HARRISBURG, Mar. 30.—Reflecting political trends of the last two decades, a bill calling for re-apportionment of the state for senatorial elections will be introduced in the legislature tonight by a member of the Allegheny county delegation.

Which member will sponsor the measure, drawn by Albert R. Maris, Philadelphia attorney who drew up the state election code now before the assembly, had not been decided today, however.

Principal changes which would be made if the measure is enacted, and that is considered doubtful by the political dopesters, would be to realign fourteen senatorial districts and increase the membership of Allegheny county in the Upper House from six to seven, and that of Lackawanna county from one to two.

Most churches of the city ushered in Holy Week Sunday with a special Palm Sunday service and this will be followed by special meetings throughout the week.

Two persons were injured quite severely, early Sunday morning when the car of John Osborne, 1103 Seventy-Second street, Cleveland, O., failed to make the curve at Arlington avenue onto Cunningham avenue, went over the hillside at that point and turned turtle. Federal Finances, Farm Board Unrest And Speeches Will Occupy Time

WASHINGTON, Mar. 30.—Several highly important matters of administration and politics awaited President Hoover's attention this morning when he went back to work, ending a badly-needed, ten-day vacation cruise to America's Caribbean possessions aboard the Battleship Arizona.

Foremost was the problem of Federal finances and what is to be done about the drop in tax collections for the first period, which will pull revenues more than $100,000,000 below; vance estimates and $225,000,000 below collections for the same period last year.

Must Prepare Speeches
Of almost equal concern was the untenable position into which the Federal Farm Board has been forced by its efforts to stabilize prices of wheat and cotton through manipulations of surpluses.

Politically, President Hoover has before him only two weeks more in which to prepare for the first ambitious speaking program of his administration—one which starts April 14 and carries him through eight public addresses up to the middle of June between Washington and the Central States. Popularly, it is being anticipated as launching his campaign for re-nomination. While aboard the Arizona, Mr. Hoover dictated rough drafts of the first of these; all available spare (Continued On Page Two)

Hope To Break Down Evidence Against Martin

SECOND WEEK OF TRIAL STARTS

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Mar. 30.—A vigorous attempt to break down the important testimony furnished for the state by Detective Bernard Wolf, arresting officer of "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, was made by the defense today as Martin's trial on charges of slaying former Councilman William E. Potter entered its second week of sessions.

Attorney Samuel Rosenberg of Pittsburgh, who took an active part in the examination of witnesses for the first time today, questioned Wolf closely in an effort to find a loophole which would aid the defense in its fight to free Martin of the charges.

An unexpected bit of evidence was presented by Wolf when he testified that two empty 32-calibre shells were found on the lawn in front of the J. J. Redick suite at the apartment building on Feb. 24. Several days after the slaying, Redick, who has entered into the murder probe previously, is being held under bond as a material witness in the case.

DETROIT, Mar. 30.—George Myers, aged 48, who confessed to the famous Iowa Axe Murder, today was placed in solitary confinement at the county jail here as the result of what police said were plans for a wholesale jail break.

Locks in the prison had been tampered with and prisoners roamed in the corridors without restraint. Two bars in Myers' cell window were sawed through.

Investigate Confession
Meanwhile, police pushed their investigation into Myers' confession that he had killed eight persons with an axe in Villisca, Iowa, June 10, 1912.

According to authorities, thirteen prisoners, all charged with major crimes, figured in the jail break plans. They described Myers as the ring-leader in the plot.

Police were inclined to doubt Myers' confession today after Harlan Miller, Des Moines newspaperman, had questioned the man. Miller declared that there were many differences in Myers' story of the wholesale murders and the actual killings.

Miller was sent here by Governor Dan W. Turner, of Iowa. The re-

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Mar. 30.—Fear of a jail delivery attempt by Chicago gangsters today gave rise to plans to rush Fred Burke, the wanton killer and super-gangster, to Jackson State Penitentiary for safe keeping.

The transfer is expected to be made immediately after the slayer's arraignment. William M. Cunningham, Berrien County Prosecutor, expects to arraign "The most dangerous man in America" today or tonight in the county jail here. Trial will probably be set for the last week in April or early in May, the commonwealth attorney declared.

Authorities expressed the opinion that they would be taking unnecessary chances if they keep Burke here more than a few days. Senate Probers Resume Inquiry

Senate Utilities Investigating Committee Back At Work Today

PLAN TO RECALL ALBERT GREENFIELD

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Mar. 30.—Idle more than a week, the senate utilities investigating committee today will resume its hearings into public utility conditions here this afternoon.

W. K. Myers, former vice president in charge of finance of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit, was slated to return to the witness stand before the senate body, and produce vouchers showing payments made to Coleman Joyce, vice president of and counsel for Mitten management.

Greenfield Summoned.

Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia banker and real estate dealer, has been summoned to come before the committee again for further questioning concerning the merger of the Quaker City Cab company with the P. R. T., but it was indicated he would not appear until tomorrow.

Another Philadelphia expected to come before the senate probers is J. A. Queney, vice president of Mitten management. Efforts have been made to locate him for questioning in connection with the cab merger, but it was not until the latter part of last week he was located in Florida.

From there, Queney telegraphed Senator William Earnest chairman, his willingness to appear for interrogation.

There were strong possibilities that these three may be the last witnesses summoned by the senate body in its quiz.

According to reports on Capitol Hill, a majority of the upper house are said to be in favor of ending the public hearings unless there are good indications that they may develop proof of Gov. Pinchot's charges of venality in the public service commission.

Old Mr. Quibbs and old Mrs. Quibbs had been living together in that same little house on the edge of the village for as long as anyone could recall. At last Mrs. Quibbs felt she had not much longer to live. She owned the small house in which they lived, and also had a little money. One day she asked her husband whether he would not draw up a will for her and so at her request and on what he presumed were her instructions, old Mr. Quibbs drew up the will, giving most of the money to her niece, the remainder to be divided among other relatives and naming himself residuary legatee and executor.

When old Quibbs read the will to Mrs. Quibbs it was not quite as she wanted it. She wanted to leave the house to her niece, otherwise the will was all right. So the old man agreed to change the will, but the very next day Mrs. Quibbs was taken very ill. Mr. Quibbs rushed to get the will to change it, but found she would not live long enough. So Quibbs suggested that she sign the one he had and he would see that her wishes were carried out regarding it and swore to it by raising his right hand. Mrs. Quibbs died, and not many months later the old man died. But when his will was opened it was found he made no provision for the niece. So the niece sued the executor.

held under close guard in jail here today as Berrien county authorities prepared to bring him to trial for the murder of Policeman Charles Skelly.

Burke, known as the "most dangerous man in America" was brought back here last night in a heavily-armed motor caravan from St. Joseph, Mo. Under the name of Fred Dane, Burke lived here hardly more than a year ago as a respectable retired businessman until he killed Policeman Skelly in an argument over a trivial automobile mishap.

Viewed By Throng

Many of his former neighbors were among the crowd of 1,500 who thronged in front of the county jail for a glimpse of the man who police say is gangland's most notorious killer.

The murder of Skelly is only one of the minor crimes with which the twentieth century Jesse James has been charged. He is wanted in Chicago for machine-gunning to death seven "Bugs" Moran gangsters on St. Valentine's day 1929. He is wanted in New York for killing Frankie Yale (or Yale).

Shackled to two deputy sheriffs, Burke made the 600-mile trip from Missouri in an armored car lent by an express company. The steel sides and bullet proof glass of the armored car were meant to withstand the siege of any gangsters who might attempt to kill Burke or deliver him from the police officers.

Under Heavy Guard

It was feared by both Missouri and Michigan authorities that members of the "Scarface" Al Capone gang, for whom Burke reputedly worked, might attempt to deliver him. Officers had orders to shoot Burke in case of an attack.

An automobile bearing five St. Joseph, Mo., policemen preceded the armored car. Another automobile police and reporters brought up the rear of the cavalcade.

Inside the jail Burke was led to a cell especially reinforced to make escape impossible. Thirty-five deputies with sub-machine guns and rifles stood guard in and about the jail throughout the night. Burke has vowed he will escape.

Arraigned Today

ST. JOSEPH, Mich., Mar. 30.—Fred Burke, the multi-killer, was arraigned today in his cell in the Berrien county jail today on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the ruthless slaying of Policeman Charles Skelly here.

Burke stood mute and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. His examination was fixed for April 8 (eight).

Taking no chances of a possible attempt to liberate Burke, guards with leveled rifle guns stood around the jail during the arraignment, keeping a large crowd at a distance.

Sheriff Fred J. Cutler said it had not been determined whether Burke would be held in the jail here until his examination, or transferred to Jackson state penitentiary for safe keeping.

The sheriff revealed today that one of the guns used to guard Burke when he was returned from St. Joseph, Mo., was the same machine gun which Burke allegedly used in the St. Valentine day massacre in Chicago.

of character, although she and Elizabeth Dyke, who was also injured, were both burned about the head and face.

The manner in which the burns were sustained is not definitely known as the car was not on fire, but it is thought possible that they were sustained in some manner either from contact with Ethyl gasoline or some part of the machine that was hot. It is hardly thought possible that their injuries were due to what might be termed bruise burns.

The machine was going south on Arlington avenue and went over the hillside when the driver failed to make the turn onto Cunningham avenue. The occupants were en route from a visit in Ellwood City to their homes in the Cleveland district.

The occupants of the car other than those injured were John Osborne, driver of the machine. C. R. Boggs, 7919 Cram avenue, Cleveland, O., and Julia and Mary Dyke, of R. D. No. 4, Cleveland.

STAR LORE WHY SOUTHERN HEMISPHERE RECEIVES THE MOST SOLAR HEAT

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter.

The nearer the earth approaches the sun the more of its heat it receives. The eccentricity of the path of the earth's orbit makes a difference of 3,000,000 miles in its extremes of distance in the course of a year. At the beginning of the year the earth comes nearest to the sun, while in June it is farthest away. This variation in distance makes an appreciable difference in the amount of solar heat received by the earth.

In December the earth receives about 6 per cent more heat than it does in June. That tends to make the summers of the southern hemisphere warmer than those of the northern.

paign. Gov. Pinchot advocated the reduction. To date, however, administration leaders in the house have not presented a bill for the change, and Sowers "stole the thunder" when he presented his bill for reduction of the fee. The measure was assigned to the highways committee by Speaker Goodnow and there it remained.

Bombshell Dropped

Last Wednesday, Rep. Sowers dropped a bombshell in the house when he moved to discharge the committee from further consideration of his bill and immediately asked that the motion for discharge be made a special order of business for 10 o'clock tonight.

If the motion meets the fate of similar moves, the bill will remain with the committee. The only other similar attempt this session was made when Rep. Hoopes, Berks socialist, asked the discharge of a house law and order committee from consideration of its resolution to investigate bread prices. The discharge motion was snowed under.

As to reduction of drivers' license fees, whether the administration will present a bill on this matter is not yet known. Opinion on Capitol Hill is that there will be no reduction this session, inasmuch as the administration plan for taking over 20,000 miles of rural road for state maintenance will increase the highway financial burden and make a reduction in revenue for highways virtually impossible.

Milk Deliveries

Possibility of a vote on the Sunday Blue laws in the house this week or at least, a recording of members' sentiments on this moot question, also loomed as members gathered today.

On the first reading calendar is the Schwartz bill, according to the title, "to amend section one of the act approved the second day of April one thousand seven hundred and ninety four."

The amendment, carried in the body of the bill, is to permit milk deliveries on Sunday up to 10 a. m. instead of 9 a. m., but the enacting clause permits amendments to be made to the bill which may open, on the floor of the house, the whole matter of Sunday Blue laws.

Opponents of the antiquated Sunday law plan, to tack riders and amendments to the measure providing for Sunday sports and amusements and a referendum for local let-downs of the ban on Sunday observance. Backers of the Blue Laws, however, have made preparation to resist such attempts.

The senate was preparing to hold a real first-night session with 29 bills on the order of passage and the Coyne bill, providing a 44-hour work week for women occupying the interest spot.

The Salus bill, also before the upper chamber, provides a change in hours of labor for minors under 16 and prescribes a daily lunch period of not less than forty-five minutes. Another measure before the senate is one by Senator Coyne, Albeny, providing for a poll tax of fifty cents in second and third class counties instead of an occupation tax.

Public Service matters again come before the senate when final action will be taken on the McClure bill providing for assistance to ratepayers and municipalities in prosecuting complaints against utility rates. The bill would create a people's counsel bureau in the department of justice to prosecute such complaints without cost to the people or to municipalities.

health officer, advised against Chero's removal until his fractured leg can be placed in a cast. Chero's condition is not critical now, it was stated.

Want Reward Money.

McALESTER, Okla., Mar. 30.—A hitch in the plans to return Stanley Chero and William Schmitt to Troy, N. Y., for the slaying of Trooper John E. Frey appeared imminent today in the report that the youthful slayers would not be surrounded by authorities here unless guaranteed that rewards totaling $2,000 would be paid.

Although nothing definite concerning the report could be learned, authorities refusing to discuss the matter, it was said that state or federal charges may be filed against the two killers in order to hold them here.

The probable charges would center on the stolen car in which Chero and Schmitt were found when arrested.

Three persons, a filling station operator and two policemen, have a definite claim on the reward. James T. Forrester, the filling station operator, became suspicious when he saw the boys in the stolen car and called Patrolmen Ernest Ambrose and John Walden, who effected the arrest.

It was Patrolman Walden who shot and critically wounded Chero when he sought to escape. Chero is a patient in the state prison hospital.

The Salvation Army also wants part of the reward. The local chapter of the army today had requested ten per cent of the total paid to be used for clothing the boys here.

McAlester, Okla., Mar. 30.—Requisition papers from Governor Roosevelt of New York were received here today by Captain J. W. Kelley of the New York police force for extradition of Stanley Chero and William Schmitt, slayers of Sergeant John E. Frey.

Captain Kelley said he would go to the office of Governor W. H. Murray at Oklahoma City immediately and present the papers for the governor's signature.

CONFESSION OF AXE SLAYER IS BEING CHECKED

porter had covered the case in 1912. Killed Eight People

Meyers, a former inmate of the Ohio State Penitentiary, confessed that he had been offered $5,000 to kill Joseph Moore in the Iowa village of nineteen years ago. He declared that he not only killed Moore but also beat the man's wife and four children to death with an axe. Two children of one of Moore's neighbors were guests in the Moore house of the fatal night and were also slain, bringing the death toll to eight.

Meyers was arrested here in February on burglary charge and subsequently convicted. He faced life imprisonment under Michigan's habitual criminal law when he made the sensational confession of the axe murders.

Though police doubted the man's confession, no stone was being left unturned to check the man's fiendish story. Police from Red Oak, Iowa, were reported to be enroute here to question Meyers.

Meyers, who was alleged ring-leader in a wholesale delivery plot here, will be arraigned later as a habitual criminal and may be sentenced to life imprisonment.

The man still insisted that he was the long sought axe murderer although authorities are inclined to doubt his story.

OVERPRODUCTION OF WHEAT

WHEAT acreage was abnormally expanded by high prices during the war. Since that time farmers have kept on producing on the war-time scale in the belief that some arrangement would be made to take care of their surplus. Even now they are planting for another surplus before disposing of that which forced them to sell their 1930 harvest at a loss.

The wheat growers are not alone at fault. Their politicians have led them to believe that by some miracle the government could dispose of their surpluses at high prices at a time when all grain countries are producing more wheat and using less. The demagogues are partly responsible for the failure of the federal farm board's relief program and yet they blame the board for the inefficiency of their relief nostrums.

Failure of the farm board to stabilize farm prices and the approach of another presidential year have combined to incite a stampede toward an uneconomic panacea for the wheat problem. All of the "farmers' friends" are falling over each other in a scramble to find new cures; to exempt the agriculturists from the law of supply and demand.

Today's favorite nostrum is the export debenture plan, which two administrations have rejected as not only futile but dangerous. Its sponsors would have the government pay the farmers a premium for dumping surplus wheat abroad. But where will they dump it? Where is there a large consuming nation that will not set up tariff and embargo barriers against such an invasion of cereals at an artificially-fixed price?

AIDING THE BLIND

Thirty nations have accepted President Hoover's invitation to send delegates to a world conference on work for the blind to be held in New York in April.

The conference has for its purposes the promotion of international comity by bringing together for more intimate acquaintance the leaders in work for the blind in the various countries, to effect a more rapid interchange of information regarding developments in work for the sightless and generally to promote international co-operation and obtain much needed help in less advanced countries.

Foreign visitors should learn much from their tour of American schools and other institutions for the care, training and treatment of the blind, and the representatives of the United States can add to their knowledge by contact with the best thought of other countries.

There are 114,000 persons afflicted with blindness in the United States. For them the country maintains 54 residential and 21 city day schools with about 6,000 enrolled. Workshops for the sightless are also operated in many communities that all may be self-supporting. And what is of far greater importance, much clinical work is being done to prevent and cure blindness.

Perhaps the greatest privation suffered by the blind is due to the scarcity of literature printed with raised letters. The printing of books for the blind has never been commercially profitable, and the one magazine printed especially for them is distributed free.

Society is helping the blind by aiding them to help themselves. That, after all, is the best charity.

MOVING TIME

Well, moving time is here again, and how busy a great many folk will be! They will have to bring in the piano box from the back yard, where it has been either a playhouse for the children or a coop for the dog. They'll have to wrap the old comforts around the chiffonier and newspapers around the chair legs. The old house will have to be cleaned up, and so will the new one. Something will be lost—something always is—and much will be thrown away.

There is a great deal of waste about moving. Ben Franklin, in his wise way, said: "Three removes are as bad as a fire." Yet when spring comes all the disadvantages of the old place are apparent; the landlord isn't willing to do very much in the way of papering and painting, and a new place looks a lot better.

What is even better than a new house of someone's else to live in, is a home of your own. Then when you want something done you do it yourself and have the satisfaction of knowing it has added a little to your own property. You feel established. This year you buy new screens, and next year put a little hedge around the lawn. The whole thing's yours. You have a just pride in it.

It is a fine plan, if you must move, to move just once more—into a home of your own.

When summer comes: Static.

It is a rather unfortunate person whose happiness depends on the interest other folk take in him.

Sectionalism is the wild urge to reform a distant region whose problems you know nothing about.

It is a toss-up whether the back-seat driver or the divided Democrats inspired the new car with 10 gear shifts.

After three months of congress, President Hoover found an atmosphere of peace and serenity aboard a warship.

Americanism: Paying more than you can afford in order to keep an indifferent clerk from thinking you are poor.

Another thing that makes the mountains appealing is the knowledge that you look like thunder in a bathing suit.

Of course the new generation is smarter. Children know how to handle their parents without a book on the subject.

Senator Nye is home explaining why his committee ran up big bills while investigating candidates who had run up big bills.

There's no balm in Gilead. People spend half their lives getting smart and the other half envying the happiness of the simple.

Francis X. Bushman, erstwhile millionaire actor, says but for his salary he would be broke. Five million others say he was born lucky.

There were no Progressives when Mark Twain observed that everybody talks about the weather but nobody ever does anything about it.

Mayor Walker should have no difficulty of proving that he was out of the city when the offenses with which he charged were committed.

Do Women Stand Pain Better Than Men?
Man Lets Whole Family Know
Women Think About Other People

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Do women stand pain better than men? I think they do.

Can I prove it? I think I can.

Little things indicate that women stand pain better than men. A man picks up a hot plate—drops it. His pain is more important to him than the plate. A woman picks up a plate that is just as hot, and—hangs onto it. She does not feel the pain as much, a man might retort, but my own opinion is that a woman doesn't see why she should drop a good plate just because it is hot.

A man cuts his finger and rushes into the house to disinfect it and bandage it and imagine all sorts of terrible things from blood poisoning to lockjaw. A woman, more often than not, bandages her finger when she has time, but not until after she has the children's dinner ready.

If a man doesn't feel well, nine out of ten times the whole family knows it. He tells them and demands attention! And if he doesn't get it, he feels abused. A woman wakes in the morning so sick that she doesn't see how she'll ever get out of bed. But she does get up and drags herself about the house. She says she has better things to do than staying in bed. And sometimes in days before the rest of the family learns that mother was terribly ill one day last week.

So often a woman receives a mortal wound and does not whimper. I know of a woman who is dying. She knows it, but she smiles on her death bed, and says she is glad her children are grown and will not need her so much. . . . And the way this woman is facing death is typical of women.

When I say men whimper in pain I do not mean all men; and when I say that most women endure pain without complaint, I do not mean all women. There are plenty of men who grit their teeth and suffer in silence, there are women who selfishly weep and whine.

But most women stand pain better than most men and I think I know why. It's because men think about themselves much more than about other people; when they worry it's about their own ambitions or their own health; women think about other people and their health.

Men dread diseases that will kill THEM; women dread diseases that might take away their CHILDREN.

They can't help it? They made that way? They don't deserve any particular credit for it? . . . I'm not discussing that. I'm merely saying that women endure pain better than men do—and isn't it true?

BAD LISTENERS

There are certain men in official positions who are not disposed to keep an ear to the ground and find out the layman's opinion of ideas.

These "official" officials are pretty much saturated with their own importance.

They have chosen or appointed to do a given thing and won't take suggestions from anyone.

Everything must be talked over in official session.

And having talked much and long they are too weary after to get up steam enough to carry out what has been suggested in meeting.

Then when the constituent or the common outsider who needs help that prompt action might give, gets up and shows by his talk, publicly and otherwise that he has about as good grasp of the situation as the officials, they become irritated.

Too many committees are composed of men who can't decide anything.

They are good talkers—they have a job and they want to keep it.

They are afraid to hit too close to the bull's eye the first time because the committee might get to functioning too fast.

The want to be known as profound thinkers and they want to keep that job, and as long as they can keep dissatisfied murmurs down they are sure of it.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

In some of the schools there are penny savings banks for the children. One Friday afternoon a little depositor asked if he might draw out three cents. He was permitted to do so and went off. On Monday morning seeing him return the money, the teacher remarked:

Prof. Leonard Hill tells the London Institute of Hygiene that women are made harder by modern dress styles, which call for low necks, short skirts and thin silk stockings.

"They have trained themselves to stand the cold better than men," he says. Our experience and observation teach us otherwise. That women are made scantily clad than men we concede; but that they endure the cold all the while they order for a woman in evening dress not to say that it is terribly cold, bitter, penetrating and drafty in a room the temperature has to be between 75 and 85 degrees.—Franklin A. They asked for advice, not for jobs.

Nothing will embarrass a friend so quickly as to ask him for a job. Ask him for advice and he may offer you a job. Tell him that you have had a couple of offers, and he may earnestly seek to persuade you to work for him at a higher salary.

The implication is that to find a good market for one's services one must have some financial independence. The savings reserve must be large enough to support one, without work or worry, for at least three months. To be compelled to take a job, any job, at once is not a self-respecting situation.

Tammany On The Defensive Arouses Citizens Of Nation

Mayor Walker Accused Of Indifference To Corruption Though Others Are Held Responsible For Conditions By Press Of Country

Corruption and crime in great cities, viewed as a national problem, intensifies interest in the current New York investigation, as Tammany Hall once more faces the grill. From all parts of the country comes condemnation of the conditions in the metropolis and there are calls to action. Mayor Walker's "wise-cracking" on the subject creates a poor impression, chiefly because it is taken as voicing indifference to a serious matter.

"Tammany in a Tuxedo, we are all seeing," according to the NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE, "is as shocking rotten as in the redder days and rougher ways of Croker."

... In the public mind the unhappy Jimmie evokes sympathy, we suspect, as much as censure. Too gay a butterfly to be broken on so ruthless a wheel. But he may, conceivably, have taught New York that the office of mayor calls for sterner stuff than a fellow of infinite jest."

"Chicago and New York are linked . . . each fighting a gigantic crime ring,"avers the CHAMPAIGN NEWS-GAZETTE, while the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL holds that effective action against the idea that "public treasures exist only to be plundered" will be "an inspiration to every other city to do the things necessary for protection."

The DETROIT FREE PRESS advises that "crime and corruption will continue to raise their ugly heads until human nature undergoes a radical change," and that "they will dominate the government of any city whose 'good citizens' go fishing on election day."

"The Tammany chiefs," according to the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST, "have been disposed rather to let the flood waste itself over a wide area, but they seem to have realized at last that they must be preparing for a real contest. The SPRINGFIELD MASS. UNION recalls the days before the campaign of 1928, and refers to the 'fiction' that Tammany is a reformed and now quite immaculate institution," with the comment that "it is possible to assume that if Governor Smith had been its supreme dictator, disposed to remove grafting district heads and municipal officials, it could have been made a different Tammany for a time."

"The contention of Mayor Walker and his supporters," says the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, "is that the great body of the public officials in New York are honest and efficient and that only here and there is to be found a grafter. But the suspicion has existed that the system has been responsible for a vast amount of graft and crime, and that back of that system lies the Tammany tiger. It is time the truth be known for the sake of the millions who live and labor in New York City. The country has a tremendous interest in honest city government."

"With graft revelations of its own," suggests the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, "New York is no longer speaking scornfully of Chicago. Jokes in the Eastern city now omit the once-favored references to the iniquities of the Middle Western metropolis. Yet New York may say, with some justice, it has at present a larger and more vigorous group of public-spirited men who refuse to submit to the dictation of graft politics and corrupt officials. Low Accident Rate Is Record

Industrial Accidents In Pennsylvania Set New Low Record In February

BELIEVE RECORD DUE TO REDUCED ACTIVITY

Compensation Awards For First Two Months Greater Than Year Ago

HARRISBURG, Mar. 30—Accidents in industry in Pennsylvania during February of this year reached the lowest point for any month since the Workmen's Compensation Law became effective in January, 1916, the bureau of statistics of the state department of labor and industry announced here today.

During the last month, the bureau reported, 9,044 accidents in industry were recorded throughout the state, including 117 which were fatal. Previous low mark of industrial casualties in Pennsylvania was in May, 1922, when a total of 9,628 accidents, with 116 fatalities, were reported. The low accident total in 1922, survey of the bureau records indicated, was due to suspension of operations in the coal mining industry at that time, due to wage scale adjustments.

Low volume of industrial accidents during February of this year, the department of labor and industry believes, was due primarily to reduced volume of general industrial activity. Accident totals for last month show a reduction of 39 fatal and 1,687 non-fatal accidents as compared with January, 1931, a decrease of 25 percent, and compared with the record of February a year ago, reductions of 25.1 percent in fatal accidents and 24.5 percent in non-fatal accidents is shown for the second month of the present year.

The 117 fatal accidents reported last month, the labor department stated, was the lowest since March, 1930. All industries except bituminous coal mining, quarrying and state and municipal work showed decreased fatality totals for February of this year as contrasted with the preceding month, the outstanding decrease coming in anthracite mining, where fatal accidents dropped from 54 in January to 29 last month, a decrease of 46 per cent.

Fatal accidents in other industrial groups, and their percentage of increase or decrease from January were:

	Increase	Decrease
Construction	3	3
Manufacturing	5	4
Mining	1	1
Quarrying	1	1
Transportation	1	1
Utilities	1	1
Trade	1	1
Municipal	1	1
Hotels	1	1
Miscellaneous	1	1

Falling objects again led the list of agencies responsible for fatal accidents to workmen.

Injuries due to falling objects accounted for 43 of the 117 fatal accidents of the month, and car and engine accidents contributed the second highest number, 26. Motor vehicles ranked third in causes of fatal injuries, 11 deaths of the total being attributed to motors.

Thirty-six of the deaths due to falling objects occurred in coal mining, 18 each in bituminous and anthracite mines.

The Bureau of Workmen's Compensation during February approved compensation agreements in 6,829 cases, involving payment to injured workmen of $1,361,529. The payments were distributed thus:

192 fatal cases—$533,737.
296 permanent disability cases—$368,450.
6,341 temporary disability cases—$459,342.

Compensation awards for the first two months of 1931 totaled $2,733,999 as compared with $2,456,723 for cases compensated during the first two months of 1930, an increase in amount of compensation awards of 11.3 percent, or $277,276. A total of 14,633 compensation agreements were approved during the first two months of the present year against 15,156 agreements agreed and approved during the corresponding period of 1930.

Increase in amount of compensation awards, despite a decrease in number of agreements approved, was due to the larger number of fatal and permanent disability cases compensated this year.

Woman Traps Mountain Sheep

Most Difficult Of Animals To Approach Caught By Woman

SEWARD, Alaska, Mar. 30—Second only to the eagle in establishing lofty habitats far above the ordinary reaches of man, mountain sheep of the Alaska county are ordinarily considered safe from capture. But a group of six fine specimens were trapped by the cunning and endurance of the three Alaskan guides, one of them a woman. The sheep were sent to the States after being held at Anchorage to become accustomed to domestic care and feeding.

Equipped with padded steel traps the captors, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Elwell of Seward and Carl Anderson of Anchorage went by dog team to the Alaska range north of Mount McKinley National Park before Christmas.

A base was established and the three guides worked their way to the high, windswept areas and placed traps in the sheep runways. Releasing the kicking bucking animals from the traps was accomplished with great difficulty and the sheep had to be tied and carried down the treacherous mountain by means of canvas hammocks suspended from poles then taken to the base camp by dog team.

It required weeks to capture the animals, and additional weeks to transport them to Anchorage for domestication.

Man Identified As Dead Found Alive In Michigan Town

FLINT, Mich., Mar. 30—A strange mixup over identification of a dead stranger has resulted in the finding of Hubert Zoldan of Oakland, Cal., missing for several years.

Publication of the supposed victim's picture in Oakland newspapers led to a checkup here and he was found living with his second wife, Natalie, whom he brought here from Oakland.

HOW TO GET RELIEF FROM CATARRH.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness, or head noises, go to New Castle Drug, Eckerd's or your drug-gist and get 1 oz. of Parmit (Double Strength); take this home, and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every one who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial. You will probably find it is just what you need.

Passover Feast Starts April 1

New Castle Congregations To Have Appropriate Services On Historical Date

On Wednesday evening, April 1, 1931, the Jewish people all over the world will begin its celebration of the Feast of Emancipation, known in Hebrew as "Pesach." According to the Bible, says a statement issued by the Tract Commission of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations and the Central Conference of American Rabbis, this holiday is celebrated for a period of seven days, and it is observed by eating unleavened bread—Matzo. This holiday looms among the most significant festivals of the Jewish calendar, for the idea constitutes a basic concept in Jewish thought and a basic cause for which humanity has been fighting throughout its history.

Appropriate services will be held in New Castle by the Temple Israel, Beth Shalom and Tifereth Israel congregations.

Like its sister festivals, Shabuoth and Sukkoth, Passover has a twofold background. Its earliest origin may be traced back to the time when the Jewish people tilled the soil of Palestine. To them the return of spring was a most important event. It ushered in the time of reaping the barley harvest, the first fruits of which the people would bring to the Temple at Jerusalem and offer to God amidst great rejoicing. Thus, originally, Passover was a nature festival which marked the beginning of the season of spring.

As the agricultural background disappeared from Jewish life, however, there came the idea that Passover marks the anniversary of the liberation of the children of Israel from the yoke of slavery. With the flight of centuries, this idea of freedom was increasingly emphasized, so that today it embodies the primary message of Passover. According to the Book of Exodus, the Jewish people who dwelt in Egypt thousands of years ago were forced into slavery. The Pharaohs made their life bitter with heavy toil and unceasing labor. They forced them to build the mighty cities of Pithom and Rameses and to construct proud palaces and pyramids. The children of Israel groaned beneath the yoke of slavery, for their affliction was beyond endurance.

At that time Moses was born and was brought up in the house of the Egyptian ruler. When he beheld the slavery and bitterness of his people, his sense of justice and righteousness welled up within him. He kindled the hearts of his downtrodden brethren with a yearning for freedom. With the unswerving courage of a prophet, he appeared before Pharaoh and demanded in the name of God: "Send forth my people, so that they may worship God, so that they may become a holy people unto God. At first, the proud Pharaoh refused, but was finally obliged to yield. And on the fourteenth of Nisan, the gates of Egypt were opened, and under the leadership of Moses, the children of Israel began their epic march through the desert.

"Today, the Jewish people celebrate the Feast of Passover to commemorate this epoch-making event. The first evening of this holiday looms among the most beautiful home festivals of the Jewish year; it is observed by an elaborate meal, called in Hebrew the "Seder," at which the heroic liberation of the children of Israel is recited by the members of the household.

Death Calls Woman In Ohio Aged 103

Mrs. Christine Heim, 103, Sandusky, Ohio, Taken By Death Today

(International News Service) SANDUSKY, O., Mar. 30.—Mrs. Christine Heim, 103, was dead at her home here today, her ambition to live past next July 13 and attain the age of 104 unaccomplished.

The aged woman had remained in a coma since last Friday. She was born in Germany later emigrating to this country.

In a recent interview, the woman had declared the greatest event in her life was her participation as Erie county's oldest resident in the dedication of the Sandusky Bay bridge with former-governor Myers Y. Cooper officiating.

Celebrating her 100th birthday, Mrs. Heim was loudly applauded and congratulated when she danced a jig at a dance hall near Cedar Point.

NOTES OF TROOP "F" 103RD CAVALRY OF NEW CASTLE

Beginning April 1 and each month thereafter, a memorandum will be sent out from Captain Shelton's office containing information on drill attendance of up-state squadrons. This is to be carried out with a view of creating greater interest and added impetus to the activity. Since about 20 points are involved for credit on the Federal Inspection report, the item is worthy of consideration.

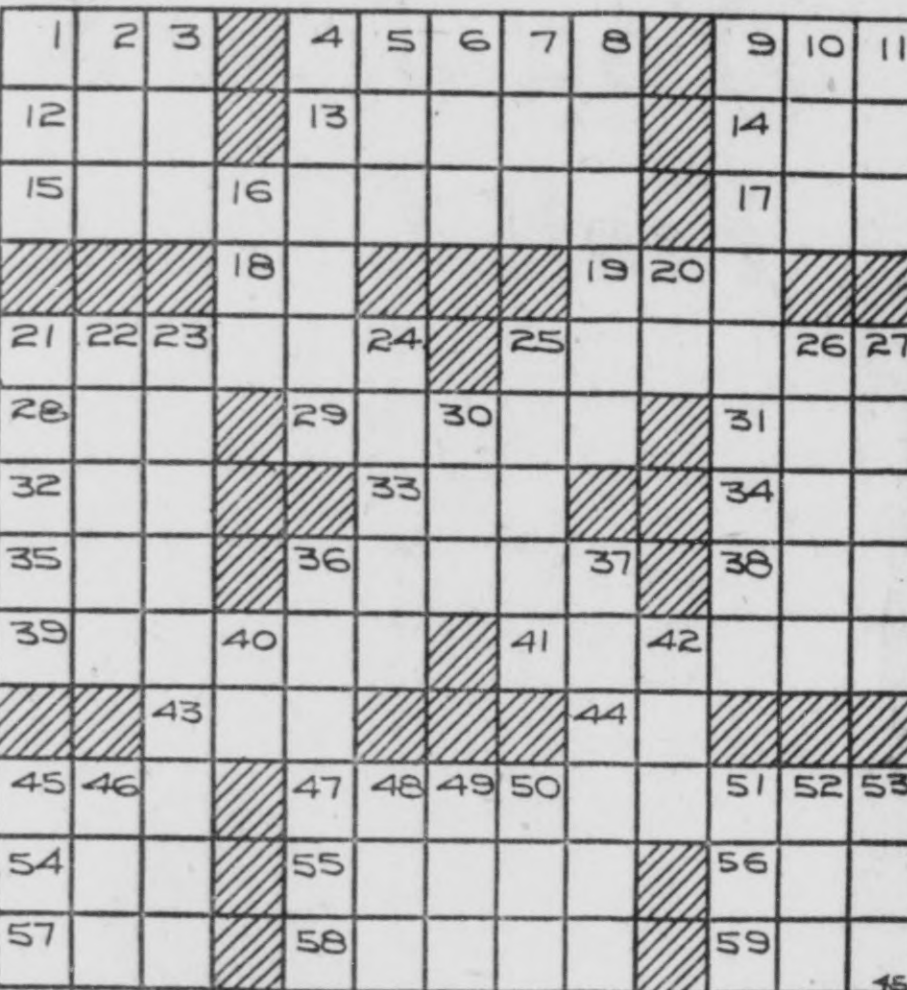

A letter from Captain Shelton states it is requested that troops be required to stress qualifications on gallery ranges as this is mandatory to firing known distance course, and means credit in proficiency with the primary weapon.

The note further states that the saber and mounted pistol courses should be constructed and put in operation as early as weather permits, as lots of work over the course at slow gaits will make the greatest improvement possible for qualification runs and for work on the course a camp.

Lieut. Miller states a new shipment of supplies, has been received at the armory.

Physicians' Treatments Are Diverse

Dr. Cleddening Cites Modern Methods Of Medication

By LOGAN CLEDDENING, M. D.

More and more the modern physician is adding diverse methods to his stock of treatments. A hundred years ago about all a patient could expect from a doctor was drugs and bleeding. Scientific nursing was added by Florence Nightingale, surgery by anesthesia and asepsis. Water treatment by the Austrian farmer boy, Preissnitz. The use of diets is a modern development. As is the use of vaccines, anti-toxins and immunological substances of other kinds.

Physical therapy as it is called—the methods of electricity, light, baths and massages—is probably the field of medicine receiving the greatest amount of attention today.

Massage is the subject of a recent authoritative statement.

Like many other methods of treatment which have only lately been put on a scientific basis, massage was practiced many centuries ago.

"The physician," said Hippocrates, in 430 B. C., "must be experienced in many things, but assuredly in rubbing." But careful investigation of the physiology of massage is of recent date. It has been shown that massage causes definite changes in the body—there is an increased excretion of nitrogen from the breakdown of manipulated tissues, a loss of acid by way of the kidneys and an increase of oxygen consumption.

While massage does not have the same effect as exercise on the body (unless accompanied by movements of the muscles) it does some of the things exercise does when employed on people who are disabled or so infirm that they cannot take exercise voluntarily.

In relieving pain and inflammatory stiffness it has been found that it is much more effective when the part has been heated before the massage is attempted.

It increases the circulation to any part on which it is used, and helps drive old inflammatory deposits away. It thus has a great usefulness in sprains, in restoring functions to limbs after fractures and dislocations. Trainers for athletic teams often treat minor injuries due to torn ligaments and sprains better than physicians, because they take more time and pains and try to get their athletes back into the game as soon as possible.

The dead: Fred O. Morse, 62; Mrs. May Morse, 55, his wife, and Loren G. Cushman, 58, Mrs. Morse's brother. Police said positions of the bodies and presence of a pistol near Morse indicated he had slain his wife and brother-in-law and then ended his own life.

Mahoning County Judges See Month's Delay In Investigation

PROSECUTOR FILES QUO-WARRANTO SUIT

(International News Service) YOUNGSTOWN, O., Mar. 30.—The five Mahoning county common pleas court judges today fore-saw a month's delay in their grand jury investigation of the relations between public utilities and public officials pending hearing of a quo-warranto suit brought by County Prosecutor Ray Thomas to oust the court's special prosecutors.

Under terms of the suit the special grand jury would be enjoined from acting under the direction of the three special prosecuting attorneys, A. M. Henderson, Fred J. Him and Theodore A. Johnson, whom Miller seeks to have removed. April 7 has been set as the date for hearing the suit by the Ohio supreme court. While the court may render a verdict immediately, presiding Judge George H. Gessner expressed the opinion that the high court will take the case under advisement for several weeks.

Engle Will Attend
Harry Engle, deposed city traction commissioner, around whom the investigation revolves, declared his intention to be present at a meeting of city officials and members of the Ohio-Edison company this week when the Youngstown municipal lighting rates will be discussed. At the meeting, Engle may have an opportunity to face A. C. Blinn, of Akron, who precipitated the investigation when he publicly accused Engle of demanding $150,000 from the Ohio-Edison company for "services rendered."

Blinn's charges were made in a letter sent to city council shortly after Attorney General Bettman ruled that Engle's election had been illegal.

At this week's meeting, city officials will seek further information on the Ohio-Edison company's offer to reduce rates for high-powered street lighting if the city will remove 4,270 one hundred candle-power lamps.

He had given most of his clothing to the children to keep them warm. Funeral services were being planned today for the six victims, all of whose bodies were taken to a mortuary at Holly, Colo. All had died of freezing, according to Dr. G. E. Casburn.

Five of the most seriously frost-bitten children were removed from Hol/ to Lamar by airplane.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

There must be quite a number of people in the city, whose memory goes back to the Camp Meeting days in the old Pearson Grove near the Epworth M. E. church on Pearson street.

The tree under the shelter of the tall towering trees of the grove, religious services were held and very largely attended by young and old. The services held there were conducted with considerable fervor and were truly helpful to the community. Bartram avenue is now located about where these services were held and in which they were held are but memories.

Tomorrow—Grove Street Green. The advantage in a big country is that you can always find some part of it where the law you don't like isn't enforced.

Scientist Lecture Is Well Attended

Frank Bell, C. S. B., Addresses Audience At The Cathedral Sunday Afternoon

An interesting lecture on Christian Science was delivered by Frank Bell C. S. B. of New York City at the Cathedral, Lincoln avenue Sunday afternoon. The lecture was under the auspices of the First Church of Christ Scientist, this city. The public had been invited and there was a fair sized audience present. The speaker sought to show that life is spiritual, not material.

The common belief about a man's life is that he lives within a physical body, that his identity is located inside a material structure of flesh and bones. How life got into the body, what keeps it there, how it is to get out, and where it is to go when it gets out, are subjects of much speculation and little assurance.

All human ills are associated with the sense of life in the flesh. Therein man is supposed to live a precarious life and to die an inevitable death; therein are his aches and pains, his fears and disappointments, his sinful habits, devastating appetites, illusive pleasures. The sorrows and sufferings from which mortals pray to be delivered all have to do directly or indirectly with the so-called corporeal, fleshy, selfhood, including that which is called the mind within the body. Christian Science, concerned with the over-coming of human ills, that the inherent rightness of God's creation may appear, invites men to consider the reasonableness of the proposition that since discord is found only within the realm of physical sense, the way out of trouble lies through the taking on of a better sense. It is possible to do this in a perfectly natural way.

To hold to the belief that man lives inside of a material body must well-nigh ignore the fact that actual life has not been found in the body. Each of the activities within the body can be truthfully described only as an effect of something else. If that something else were inside of the body it scarcely could have escaped detection by this time.

The situation is illumined by such statements as this from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, page 208: "You embrace your body in your thought, and you should delineate upon it thoughts of health, not of sickness." A moment's consideration makes it plain that we do embrace our material body in our thoughts. Therefore both we and our thoughts must be in fact outside of that body. One could not well be inside of that which he embraces. We contemplate our so-called physical selves from without, not from within.

If man does not really live in the flesh, then clearly he ought not to go on believing that he does. Inspired thought beckons us out of materiality. In Genesis we are assured that true man is the image and likeness of infinite Spirit. A psalm reminds us that we shall be satisfied when we awake in God's likeness, the likeness of Spirit. Isaiah urges "Cease ye from man, whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be accounted of?" Jesus commanding his followers to take no thought for the body, declares that real life, life eternal, is a state of mind, to know God aright. St. Paul, seeing that "they that are in the flesh cannot please God," advises Christians to cultivate a willingness "to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord." John, the Revelator, explains the possibility of beholding new heaven and new earth, not material but spiritual through mental purification.

Christian Science teaches and proves that to live one's sense of identity and reality up out of the flesh into infinite Spirit promotes health and harmony. Thus Christian Science restores that which was lost, Christian healing.

Life was no mystery to Jesus. "It is the spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing," said he. The sick are healed and sinners are reformed through learning to look outside of the flesh for that true spiritual animation which alone is capable of maintaining the universe and all that is therein.

To the Master evidently it was clear that health is primarily a state of thought and only secondary or incidentally a condition of body or matter. To him the sick were those "whom Satan hath bound," the Satan whom he described as "liar, and the father of it," a self-constituted lie or false sense, having "no truth" in it. Both the casting out of devils, sick, deluded beliefs, and the spiritual quickening of those who came to be healed were accomplished through the operation of the Mind that was Christ Jesus, as St. Paul describes it. Those who were healed were those whose hearts were open to the regenerative influence of that mind or sense which perceived and reflected the absolute truth concerning God's creation.

Lad Who Shot Companion Is Given Parole

BEAVER, Pa., Mar. 30.—Parents who buy guns for their children were criticised by Judge Frank E. Reader at Beaver today in paroling Jack Smith, 14, of Morado, Beaver Falls, in connection with the fatal shooting of Paul Spooner, 15, of College Hill, on last February 15th. The average citizen has no use for a firearm, much less a child, Judge Reader said, in substance. He stated that there was no evidence that the killing of young Spooner was a malicious and vicious killing nor that Smith was a vicious boy. Witnesses told the court to the contrary, and stated that they knew of no trouble he had been in before.

Firemen Invited To Labor Day Fete

Washington, D. C., Board Of Trade And Fire Department Ask Local Representation

Local fire headquarters has received an invitation to send a representation for the ninth annual National Firemen's Parade which is to be held in the national capital this year on Labor Day, September 7. The communication was from the Washington, D. C. Board of Trade and the Washington Fire Department.

Washington firemen's parades and the celebration held there each year on Labor Day are attracting national attention. Eight years ago, when the event originated, only Washington fire companies participated.

Last year, however, volunteer and professional fire companies came from several states with their apparatus and decorated floats. They were reviewed by 225,000 spectators. It is fitting that firemen of the nation should have a day set aside in their honor. Volunteer and professional fire companies in the United States number in their ranks more than 2,000,000 men.

River Stage Is Highest In Year

According to U. S. Weather Observer B. F. Johnson, the Shenango River attained the greatest height this morning that it has had in over a year, when it rose to 7.7 feet due to the heavy rains of the past week. This is the highest it has been since April 21, 1930.

No man is good enough to govern another man without that other's consent.—Stand with anybody that stands right. Stand with him while he is right, and part with him when he goes wrong.—Lincoln.

A penny saved really doesn't look like an awful lot all by itself

BUT—

this runs into real money:

Each year the average American family eats approximately ten times its weight in food. It eats about 1329 pounds of fresh vegetables, 111 pounds of canned vegetables, 584 pounds of fresh fruit, 44 pounds of canned fruit, 587 pounds of meat, 371 pounds of bread, 424 pounds of sugar, 74 pounds of butter, 115 pounds of eggs—to name only a few items.

Figure it out for yourself. You buy thousands of pounds of food every year. A & P stores offer savings all the way from a fraction of a cent to several cents a pound on different foods. When you buy food by the ton—as you do every year—these savings run into real money.

Country Usurps Gain In Congress Seats, Big Cities Complain

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
CHICAGO, Mar. 30.—Chicago is the first of the country's great cities to be stung by its state legislature, in connection with the recent census showing of the representation it is entitled to at Springfield, the Illinois capital.

And my! how the windy metropolis did howl its indignation!

But it was nothing to the chorus of howls that will go up presently from all the big cities, when they discover how they are going to be flim-flammed out of their rights in the matter of representation in Washington, which is just what is going to happen to them to a dead certainty: what happened to Chicago the other day conclusively demonstrated it.

After each census, as probably everyone knows, the proper experts at the national capital figure out how many representatives each state is entitled to under the new count of its population, varying all the way from one, as in the cases of states like Arizona and New Mexico, up to 45, which will be New York's total, according to the 1930 tally of its inhabitants.

It is then up to the legislatures of the respective states to divide, each, its own states into the required number of congressional districts—except, of course, the legislatures of states with only one representative apiece.

In the same fashion, succeeding census furnish the states with a basis for districting themselves as to representation in their legislatures.

The system worked very satisfactorily up to the point where the cities began to be big enough, if given their fair share of representation in proportion to population, to lord it over the agricultural element, which previously had lorded it over the cities.

Then the farmer legislators began to balk, and being everywhere in the majority by reason of the fact that the farmers previously had been in a majority over the city folk, they balked to excellent effect.

Until last year congress had not voted a national reapportionment, among the states, for two decades, having completely skipped the 1920 census. It was in defiance of the federal constitution, but there was nothing anyone could do about it: except rant and rave, which the urban lawmakers did, while the rural contingent laughed at them.

At the last session of congress, however, a national reapportionment act finally went through. By its provisions additional representation is given to states which recently have grown most rapidly, and taken away correspondingly from those which have lagged in increasing their populations.

This meant a loss of nearly 30 congressmen to the practically stationary rural states; a gain of the same number for states with big cities in them.

It did not necessarily mean that the big cities would get the benefit of the alterations. Michigan, for example, will get several more congressmen than heretofore, but Michigan's population, outside Detroit, has not grown so enormously. The growth is principally Detroit's. Yet the whole state gets the increased representation unless the farmer-controlled Michigan legislature awards it to Detroit exclusively—and will a farmer-controlled legislature do any such thing?

What a farmer-controlled legislature may reasonably be expected to do can be judged from what the Illinois legislature did do.

If the census is to be relied on, Chicago is entitled to seven more state senators and 21 more state representatives than it now sends to Springfield; the "down-state" folk to seven senators and 21 representatives less. And a bill was introduced providing for the readjustment. The legislative lower house turned it down 90 to 57—all the urbanites voting with the 57; all the ruralites with the 90.

As State Representative Sparks, of the rural 90, remarked, "Right or wrong, down-state never will surrender control of the legislature to Chicago."

If the farmers feel this way about their legislatures, how will they feel about surrendering control of their congressional majority?

As to the congressional situation, the cities, taken altogether, actually stand to lose representation. They will not even hold onto all they have now.

New York City, for instance, is comparatively fortunate. At least it will not lose. St. Louis and Kansas City are quite likely to.

New York state gains a couple of representatives. On a population basis New York City, because of its rapid growth, ought to get them, but it is doubtful if the Albany legislature will redistrict for them. If not, they will have to be elected at large—by the entire state—and perhaps they will be ruralites; some of them, anyway.

On the other hand, Missouri loses four or five congressional seats. By good rights, however, they ought not to come out of St. Louis or Kansas City. They have kept up with population's growth and are entitled to as many congressmen as ever they had. Yet suppose the legislature refuses to redistrict Missouri! Why, in that event, inasmuch as the state actually has LOST representation, ALL its congressmen will have to be elected at large. St. Louis and Kansas City may not get ANY of them.

City folk gave a loud cry of rejoicing when congress passed the national reapportionment bill a few months ago.

They were aware that, in the last 15 or 20 years America has been transformed from a predominantly rural into a predominantly urban nation.

With the reapportionment bill's passage, they reckoned they were going, belatedly, to get their rights—a majority in Washington. To repeal prohibition! To abolish blue laws generally! To make this into a country fit for city people to live in!

Central Press
NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—The phenomenal sale of his book, "Why You Win or Lose," has prompted Fred C. Kelly to further alluring incursions into the psychology of speculation.

Fred's publishers assure us, hands on their hearts, that his forthcoming volume will be of "intense interest" to those who, despite the Late Unpleasantness, still entertain a craving to finger the ticker tape in the days of the fast approaching Bull Market.

CANDOR.
Brother Kelly is a keen and discriminating observer of the human animal. The trait is inherent. When he was a small boy, at the supper table one evening he harked to his Maw pressing a gushing female guest to partake of another biscuit.

"Goodness sakes alive!" giggled the guest, "they're so good I don't know how many I've eaten already."

"You've had four," said Fred.

A CATSY JOB.
Women hold down all sorts of jobs in New York. There are female blacksmiths, house painters, taxi drivers, and one of them is a cat policeman who rounds up stray felines, alley tramps, maltese pets and stray kittens. Her hardest work is in the spring and fall when people move and abandon animals. In those seasons her average haul is about fifty cents a day.

FASHION NOTE.
Some one has unearthed a copy of the Suncook Valley (N. H.) Times of December, 1868, carrying the following engaging style note:

"How should our girls be dressed in winter? In the first place, make a waist of cotton flannel; let the sleeves be long. Make a pair of drawers of the same material, long enough to reach the top of the bootie, and button them upon the waist; then flannel garments made in the same manner except the drawers; they should be finished with a band and buttoned just below the knee.

"Next, the hoops (if they must have them, but girls are much better off without them), and over them a warm, light skirt. Lastly, the dress should be a woolen material, made with long sleeves lined with strong cotton. Strong boots with heavy soles and warm, thick, woolen stockings. When she goes out she should wear a warm saque and mittens."

No wonder Grandad used to think Gran-maw was a warm baby!

A REQUEST

Editor News:
Dear Sir:
Last summer I spent as much time as possible observing purple martins and their habits—not only those of James Atkinson's of the West Side. But my neighbor, John Kuhn and I made a special trip to North Lima, Ohio, to see those of John Yoder, who is a prosperous grower of flowers and plants.

Yoder had 75 pairs of purple martins in his colony house. While it was a very hot day in the height of the fly time, you could take off your hat and wander over his well kept grounds and never be annoyed by a fly or mosquito. While it was an "off" fruit year, I never saw fruit so free from worms.

One year ago last summer I spent three weeks at Themopolis, Wyoming, a hot springs resort situated in a state reserve one mile square. There these excellent automatic self-acting fly swatters are found and the cliff swallows are protected, and nests by the thousands in the overhanging banks of the Big Horn river. In the three weeks' stay I do not remember of being annoyed by a fly or mosquito.

Outside the reservation the dirty and ignorant blame them for harboring bed bugs, and destroy their nests, when they are but innocent sufferers of man's sin of omission.

BOTH RIGHT.

Says Robert Garland, New York theatre reviewer:
"Broadway is merely Main Street with the spotlight on it."

and are no more responsible for bed bugs than sparrows are for chicken lice.

Let us hope they learn better, place the blame where it belongs, get rid of the bed bugs and keep the birds.

Themopolis is in the midst of forest reserves and near to parks that are rapidly becoming a play ground of the nation. And I am asking as many as can conveniently do so when there to visit this place; also observe the purple martins of James Atkinson of the West Side and John Yoder of North Lima. Let them see for themselves the benefits of having the balance of nature against the bugs, and in favor of the birds.

If they find I have exaggerated in any way I will apologize to my brother agriculturists for the mean things I have ever said about them. A visit to Themopolis need not be expensive, for the wise and canny old Chief Washakie of the Shoshones provided in the deed to the state that one fourth of the health-giving water must be forever free to all humanity, without regard to race, color, creed or nationality. You can get a bath free any time at the fine modern state bath house, if you furnish your own towel. By camping with the Indians on the free ground expenses can be kept down.

Everybody takes the baths, and it might not be out of the way to add that bed bugs are not unknown.

Let us all boost for "more birds and less bugs"—and may the day soon come when they become the factor in protecting our fruits and crops.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Tell Adopted Child Truth—Dr. Myers

Wise Mother Answers Tot's Questions Honestly

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.
Head Division Parental Education,
Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

Some time ago I spoke before 1-150 parents at Providence, R. I. It was at the annual banquet of the State P. T. A. No other state ever puts out so many parents at an annual event. The P. T. A. is a live group in Little Rhody.

I didn't get a satisfactory discussion, since the group was large, for many to have a say—and the people like to talk, you know, and find it tiresome to listen to their neighbors talk. But after the regular forum I had some interesting conferences with individual parents. One mother, with tears in her eyes, bless her soul, asked me the question I often hear: "Shall I tell my adopted child that I am not her real mother?" The child was nine years old. There is only one answer to this question: "Yes, and the earlier the better."

I discovered that the mother had been distressed that the child's playmates had worried the child about the matter, and that the mother had been attempting to assure the child that the other children did not know what they were talking about. If you put yourself in that mother's place you can see how she was worried.

Please do not condemn her. She was doing the best she knew. Let other mothers of adopted children profit from her experience and avoid such heartaches.

In the first place, it is well for a mother adopting a child to lose all trace of the real mother, or never to know where or who the mother is, provided she has complete assurance on good authority of a doctor and psychologist that the child is sound physically and mentally and that there is not insanity in its near family line.

Every wise mother answers all her child's questions. Before the age of four the child is likely to ask where babies come from. A good answer is "From the mother's body." "Did I come from your body, mother?" is a frequent second question. Right there is the place to tell the child the facts as best you can, making him know that while you were not his first mother you are his mother now and are always going to be a real loving mother to him. At this early age he will not be shocked or worried if you do not talk about the matter more than necessary, and speak without betrayal of emotion.

But suppose, because you thought it best, you had lied to the child and the child is six or seven or much older. Then make up your mind that you are going to confess to the child somewhat in this fashion: "You know you asked me one day where you came from and I told you . . . I did so because I did not want to worry you; but now I see that I made a mistake. This is what I should have answered you . . ."

You parents who have used the stork myth or other yarns of deception to answer similar questions to your real children should, in like fashion, set yourselves aright. Otherwise the child, upon discovering the facts, by and by will be distressed that you had deceived him. Besides, you had been losing a rare opportunity to win the genuine affection and esteem of the child by cultivating his complete confidence.

The adopted child of an unwed mother living, and known by the neighborhood in which the child lives, is sure to face terrible suffering, since many people are desperately mean and meddlesome about such matters. The only solution is removal to a distant place. Get it out of your head that social traits, such as lying, stealing, or even crime, are inherited. Such things are learned. Adopt a child of good body and good brain. The rest is up to you.

Masses Of India Again Proclaim Mahatma Gandhi As True Leader

SURLINESS IS NOW REPENTED

(International News Service)
BOMBAY, Mar. 30.—The masses of India, as if repentant over last week's surliness toward Mahatma M. K. Gandhi, spurned his foes today and hailed him as their true leader.

Between 80,000 and 100,000 men and women fought to get a glimpse of him as he appeared in flowing white robes at the 45th annual session of the Indian National Congress now in progress at Karachi.

Surrounded by his group of Apostles, the "holy man" sat in silence on a wooden platform erected in the vast open-air stadium, and heard the multitude vigorously cheering those who reiterated India's demands for complete national independence.

RECOVERY FROM GRIP IS ALWAYS SLOW WORK

Victims of grip or influenza are always left badly weakened. The acute catarrhal conditions from which they have suffered make recovery take a long time. There is one common sense course to follow—get rid of the catarrh. Catarrh helps to bring on the attack. It is present in most people. Many know it only when some acute attack shows how much it has undermined the general health. Catarrh is both insidious and dangerous.

World's Tonic helps conquer catarrh. More than that, it is a good strength building assistant. With it, thousands have gotten rid of catarrh at the same time they were building up strength.

Those who are weakened by grip or influenza or cold are always subject to the ravages of catarrh. Build up strength with World's Tonic and overcome catarrh at the same time.

News Briefs From Many Parts Of Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Mar. 30.—Fate and an alert policeman here combined to turn Joseph Ruddy, 18, from a glamorous criminal career.

Ruddy decided to rob a jewelry store. His plans were a trifle vague. All he had in mind, he admitted, was to have a brick through the window, grab everything in sight and "take it on the lam."

Thrice Joseph strolled past the store, ready for the hurrying act. Thrice Reserve Patrolman Stanley Janczak strolled past Joseph, eyed him curiously. And the third time was fatal, for Joseph ran, was pursued, and "pinched."

At police headquarters, he admitted freely his plans for the foiled robbery.

EPHRATA, Pa., Mar. 30.—Admitting that he broke window panes in a school building here, Clarence Flory, 17, was ordered to attend Sunday school and church every week for a year in lieu of suspension of prosecution.

Half a dozen small forest fires sprang up in the course of a day, threatening to spread into one blaze of considerable proportions. Firefighters succeeded in controlling all of the blazes, then along came the rain and put them out. Thousands of dollars worth of valuable timber was saved.

Officer Battles With Colored Man

Claimed Bystanders Refused
Assistance When He Called For Help

Trouble that has been brewing in the Grant and Green street district for some time past and has resulted in number complaints to the police and council relative to the action of a certain group of young men, mostly colored, in insulting white women and making things generally unpleasant, came to a climax, shortly before midnight, Saturday night when Officer Ray Showalter, who patrols that district, in arresting Ecco Owens, colored whom it is alleged was using unfit language and acting disorderly, was severely injured and also had his clothing and watch ruined.

During the argument with Owens Officer Showalter asked the assistance of numerous people, colored and white, in the vicinity, and was refused assistance. It was due to the assistance rendered by John Kirschner, 501 Electric street, and George Williams, King avenue, who stopped as they were passing in an automobile to see what the trouble was that he secured the needed assistance and was able to bring his prisoner to the police station. A belated call for the police was received and Officers Lockard and Greer hurried to the scene but Showalter and his prisoner were in the meantime brought to the police station by Messrs. Kirschner and Williams.

This morning, when Owens was brought before the mayor, he pleaded not guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct and resisting an officer and was remanded to the jail in default of $50 bond, pending a hearing. Efforts are being made to secure the needed bond.

Chief of Police C. C. Horner stated this morning that there have been so many complaints from the district concerning the insulting of white women and other actions that annoyed the people of the district that the authorities are determined to put a stop to the practice complained of, as the citizens complaining had every right to the protection asked and that the police department would make every effort to give it to them.

According to the report of Officer Showalter Owens and three other men were at Grant and Green streets as he came along and Owens was using very nasty language. As the officer walked toward them, the other three ran away and Owens then started to call the officer foul names. As the officer reached him Owens struck at him and grabbed away his night stick.

They then started to battle and the officer got Owens down. He asked several persons to call assistance but all refused to do so or at least did not make any effort to do so. According to the officers statement, one colored woman told Owens that they would take the matter to court and have Showalter removed.

On arriving home shortly after midnight, Officer Showalter found that he had been injured and a physician was called and found that his right knee had been badly bruised and sprained and ordered him to remain off it for some time.

Librarian Recommends Books On Business And Economics

Number Of Excellent Books
On Business Principles
Available At Public Library

What makes times boom or grow hard?

Ever since prosperity in the United States ceased to be regarded as inevitable as crises in India or revolution in South America, this question has been debated in newspapers and magazines, discussed across dinner tables, and sped through the air on radio wave lengths.

For those who wish to join the discussion with opinions based on something more substantial than hearsay, Miss Alice Sterling, librarian at the New Castle Public Library, recommends a number of books and reading courses on business and economics.

Although many books are available on the stock market, investment, and foreign trade, the average reader may wish to begin with general principles which are both more simple and more fundamental. Courses on "Economics" and "Capital and Labor" from the "Reading with a Purpose" series, published by the American Library Association, give a good first view of the subject in terms which are interesting as well as understandable.

"Geography," from the same series, may seem an odd addition to a reading list on economics but it is in fact the explanation of how we happen to have industry and commerce just as "International Relations" is the explanation of the rivalries among nations each seeking the best of trade and territory.

Among other books on business principles and conditions some received recently at the New Castle Library are:

Industrial revolution in the South by Broadus Mitchell.
Chain, group and branch banking by Virgil Willitt.
Modern business law by J. F. Christ.
Money value of a man by L. I. Dublin.
Unemployment by W. H. Beveridge.

Tear Gas Blamed For Drunkenness

EL DORADO, Ark., Mar. 30.—Artificial tear gas gave way to the real article when George Evans appeared before municipal court here recently on charges of drunkenness.

"I wasn't drunk," Evans told the judge. "My wife shot me with tear gas and sort of blinded me. My eyes are burning yet. That's why they thought I was drunk."

After hearing the evidence of the case, the judge affixed a fine of $13.80.

GAMBLING CANNOT

(International News Service)

RENO, Nev., Mar. 30.—Mayor E. E. Roberts, who would solve the prohibition question in Reno by placing tubs of liquor in every street corner, today had come to the defense of Reno and Nevada, both of which have come in for considerable verbal assaults since the passing recently of the six-weeks divorce law and the legalizing of gambling.

Speaking from the pulpit of the Methodist church, Mayor Roberts outlined his famous liquor policy, defended "segregation," asserted that gambling in Nevada "would be instrumental in ending all gambling by showing 'the other states that the game cannot be beaten,'" and praised his state for making the securing of divorces easier.

IRWIN, Pa., Mar. 30.—Clarence Lauffer, 34, of Straw Pump, proprietor of the Lauffer garage here, died in the Westmoreland Hospital Saturday from a fracture of the skull and other injuries received when the car driven by Taylor Johns, 618 Vine street, Irwin, skidded and crashed into a telegraph pole. The accident occurred near Byerly crest, on the Lincoln highway west of Irwin. As Johns was trying out his car, which Lauffer had just finished repairing, Lauffer seated on the right-hand side of the car, was caught between the machine and the pole. Johnson, suffering considerably from shock, and in a semi-conscious condition, was also removed to the Westmoreland Hospital.

Aged Woman Finds Jobs During Day

CROMWELL, Conn., Mar. 30.—Kato Ralick, 83, has no sympathy for lazy folks.

Every day for the past 66 years she has risen at 5 a. m., worked on her farm for an hour or so and then walked three miles to work in a toy factory.

When the whistle blows she walks home, delivering papers on the way, finishes her chores and calls it a day.

Many large-scale farmers in Iowa have adopted a truck farming as a side line.

Mayor Walker To Leave Coast For New York Tuesday

Dapper Mayor Has Nothing To Say Regarding Charges Hurlled At Him

STATEMENT WILL BE MADE SOON

(International News Service)
PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Mar. 30.—Until Mayor James J. Walker arrives in New York he will have nothing to say regarding the charges that have been brought against his administration, but he promised today to answer those charges within 48 hours after he returns to his desk.

Mayor Walker busied himself today attending to the last details of packing his 23 trunks preparatory to departure for home tomorrow.

"I will roll into New York next Friday morning without opening my head before them about politics," he explained. "I will have something definite to say 48 hours after I get home.

The mayor let it be known that the significance of the conference of five Tammany county leaders would be notable had former Gov. Al Smith issued the call, otherwise not.

Legal Marriage Age Limit Varies

Pennsylvania Limit Is About In The Middle Of All 48 States

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 30.—In his efforts to tie the marriage knot, Dan Cupid finds himself more restricted by minimum age limits in twenty-two of the forty-eight states than in Pennsylvania. This conclusion appears to follow a survey conducted by the Children's Bureau of the Labor Department.

The Bureau made the study to determine the age requirements for marriage in the various states and reported that in two states—Connecticut and Pennsylvania—the minimum age for marriage is sixteen for boys and sixteen for girls, or a mean average age of 16 years.

Twenty-two states have a mean average age higher than that of Pennsylvania, twenty-three have a lower average, and two have the same mean as the Nutmeg State.

Of the various states, New Hampshire sets the minimum marriage age limits highest, with 20 years for the boy and 18 for the girl. Twelve states establish 14 years for the boy and 12 for the girl; sixteen states the ages of 18 and 16; five the ages of 18 and 15; two the ages of 16 and 16; one of the ages 18 and 14; one the ages of 15 and 15; three the ages of 17 and 14, and seven the ages of 16 and 14 for the boy and girl, respectively.

Brothers' Trial Nearing Finish

CASE IS NOW IN THIRD WEEK

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Mar. 30.—Presentation of the state's evidence against Leo V. Brothers, St. Louis gunman charged with the gangland murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, neared conclusion today as the trial entered its third week.

Two more witnesses remain to be called for the prosecution, one of these, Albert W. Kelfstrom, is said to have had the best chance of any who testified thus far to view the lone gunman who killed Lingle last June 9.

Kelfstrom, according to the state's attorney's men will identify Brothers as the man who stepped into the trunk shop where he is employed and bought a spit case a few minutes before the murder. The suit case was never called for.

Another Barbara Frietchie Seen

Death Reveals Story Of Another Incident Similar To That Of Ballad Fame

(International News Service)
HAGERSTOWN Md., Mar. 30.—Death here of Marcia Theresa Kretzer of Sharpsburg, has recalled a Civil War incident in which Miss Kretzer figured as another Barbara Frietchie, of ballad fame.

The day before the battle of Antietam, Confederate troops passed through Sharpsburg to take up positions on the field. Across the front of the Kretzer home on the main street hung a huge Union flag.

A confederate officer noticed the flag, dismounted, rapped at the door and, when Kretzer appeared, ordered the flag taken down and destroyed.

Later in the day, he returned, noted the flag had been removed and asked if it had been destroyed.

"The flag," replied Miss Kretzer, "is in ashes."

She spoke truly. The next day, Sharpsburg reverberated with the sound of war. When the tide of battle ebbed, the Confederates hurried through the town on the way to Potomac. Across the Kretzer home, the Stars and Stripes hung again.

Miss Kretzer, she recalled but a few days before her death, had taken down the flag at the officer's order, wrapped it carefully in cloth and hidden it in an ash heap in the back yard.

Hunters Must Make Returns Before May 1

May Have Hunting Privileges Taken From Them For Failure To Comply

Attention of hunters in Lawrence county is called to the fact that return stubs on their hunting licenses, giving the amount of game killed during the past year, must be returned to the game commission before May 1, 1931.

Failure to comply with the ruling of the commission may result in the hunter's privileges being taken from him for a period of a year.

Alderman O. H. P. Green stated this morning that he will be glad to handle these reports for local hunters free of charge, if they will bring them to his office.

Failure to make a report on the amount of game killed places the game commission at a great inconvenience, as they do not know how much game to distribute in the various counties to replenish that shot off during the preceding season.

This means that Lawrence county may not receive an adequate share of the game distributed for breeding purposes and hunters owe it to their own interests to make a report as promptly as possible.

Italian Methodists Have Great Day

Special Series Of Sermons Is Brought To Close With Palm Day Services

A day that will long be remembered by the congregation of the Italian Methodist church is Palm Sunday, which was so fittingly observed Sunday in their church on Phillips street.

Dr. C. G. Farr gave an inspiring sermon on "The Way of Jesus Christ" speaking of him as the son of the living God and the prophet of Nazareth and at the close of the sermon, the congregation felt as if they had been among the crowd that sang and echoed the praises of the King on that triumphant march into Jerusalem. He brought his message to a close by urging the people to open their hearts so the King could abide there.

In the evening the large attendance and interest shown went away beyond the expectations of the pastor, Rev. J. Ruggiero, as the crowd assembled to hear Rev. A. M. D. Riggio of Newark, N. J. deliver the closing sermon of a series of services he has conducted in Italian throughout the week. The choir gave an especially beautiful rendition of "The Palms."

Rev. Riggio took as his topic, "What Is Man?" and entered into the subject with all the enthusiasm and fire that characterizes the Italian character. For a full hour he held the congregation spell bound and no one hearing him could forget what God meant man to be, after such a message.

The service closed with the singing of a hymn by the congregation in which all stood with their hands held in the attitude of blessing showing the gratitude they felt toward Rev. Riggio for the inspiring and edifying messages he had brought to them.

Daniel John Is Tendered Farewell

Spiritualist Church Of Truth Holds Special Service In His Honor

Service Sunday evening at the Spiritualist Church of Truth was of a special character and very largely attended, it being in the nature of a farewell to Daniel John, who has been directing and leading the church for several years past.

The farewell was tendered Mr. John due to his activity in the interest of the church and the fact that on Tuesday morning, he leaves for the Macabee Home at Chatham, Pa., near Philadelphia, where he plans to spend the balance of his life.

The service was in charge of Rev. Mrs. S. E. Guthrie, daughter of Mr. John and the program as carried out was both inspirational and interesting and a touching tribute to Mr. John.

The program of the service included the singing of numerous hymns, prayer and solos by Mr. John, Miss Nellie Ingram and remarks by Rev. Guthrie, Miss Ingram, Mr. Parks, D. Lewis and Miss Davis, who spoke most feelingly of the fact that Mr. John was leaving. Mr. John responded in a feeling manner to the many tributes extended him by the speakers. The service came to a close with all shaking hands with Mr. John and wishing him happiness. He was tendered a purse, also a handsome bouquet of flowers and expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred on him.

Mr. John is taking up his residence at the Macabee Home as a result of being a member of the Macabees for the past thirty years, in which organization his accumulated payments have entitled him to spend the rest of his life in the home. His age and defective hearing have made the change desirable. He was born in Glamorgan, Wales, April 3, 1866. He has been a widower since April 26, 1926. He is especially thankful that his daughter, Rev. Mrs. Guthrie, will now carry on the work of the Spiritualist Church of Truth which was made possible through his work.

Fire Insurance Company Is Sued In Loss Of Home

Plaintiff Charges Lawrence County Concern Refuses To Pay Damage

Suit to recover $2,000 for the loss incurred when her home was destroyed by fire, was filed in the prothonotary's office this morning by Maggie Lash against the Washington Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Lawrence County.

The plaintiff charges in the bill of complaint, that her home in Wayne township had been insured by the defendant company, through Samuel Badger, its agent, in August 1929. On April 30, 1930, the house caught fire and was completely destroyed.

She alleges that she was on her way to New Castle to report her loss to the company, when she met Mr. Badger, who after viewing the home site, told her that settlement would be made. On July 26, 1930, she states that she received a letter from the company, stating that the insurance claim would not be paid, and consequently, she has brought suit to recover by law.

FIRST MOVE IN RE-DISTRICTING FOR MANY YEARS

session under Gov. Pennypacker in 1906.

On the basis of the 1930 census, the new senatorial ratio will be 192,627 for each senator. All told, 14 of the 36 districts outside the metropolitan areas of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia would be changed by the bill.

Dropping of either Senator Samuel W. Salus or Senator William C. Hunsicker, both of Philadelphia, would seem probable under the bill, as it merges the 2nd, 3rd and part of the 1st senatorial districts in that city into a central city district. The wards in Philadelphia lying north of Market street, now the 7th district, would become the 3rd; the wards south of Market street, would remain as the 4th. Other shifts in Philadelphia would be to group the growing suburban wards by splitting up the central wards which have lost population.

Philadelphia's senatorial representation would remain at eight, limited by a constitutional proviso that no county shall have more than one-sixth of the membership of the Senate.

The redistricting move is expected to gain the support of the entire Allegheny county delegation, inasmuch as much of the demand for a reapportionment has come from that section.

The bill provides for these changes in districts:

District No. 1, Philadelphia, 26, 36, 39 and 48 wards.

District No. 2, Philadelphia, wards 1 to 15 inclusive and 30th ward added.

District No. 3, Philadelphia, 24, 29, 34, 44, and 47 wards.

District No. 4, Philadelphia, 27, 40 and 46 wards.

District No. 5, Philadelphia, 16 to 20 wards, with wards 28, 31, 32, 27 wards added.

District No. 6, Philadelphia, 21, 22, and 38 wards.

District No. 7, Philadelphia, 23, 32, 35, 41 and 45 wards.

District No. 8, Philadelphia, 33, 42, 43 wards.

Thirteenth district—Lancaster county complete, including towns and townships now grouped with Lebanon county in 17th district.

Fifteenth district—Lebanon county added to Dauphin.

Seventeenth district—new, comprising the old 23rd district (Bradford, Susquehanna and Wyoming) with Sullivan and Tioga added.

Twentieth district—Luzerne county, except that portion in 21st district.

Twenty-seventh district—Northumberland county with Montour substituted for Snyder and Union.

Disembodied Portion Of Human Body Found In Lumber Yard

BELIEVE INSANE WOMAN IS SLAYER

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—A disembodied portion of a human body, believed to be the torso of a man, was found today in a lumber yard at Stagg street and Varick avenue, Brooklyn.

The navy yard is a few miles from the Williamsburg bridge where the thigh of a woman was found last Friday night. At first it was believed to be a part of the woman's body, but detectives said after further examination they believed there was no connection between the crimes.

Investigation also was under way on the theory the torso may be that of a man who disappeared from an apartment in which a woman was drugged and mutilated by a person she described as a "giant woman."

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 30.—The federal farm board's decision to stay out of the wheat pit and buy none of the 1931 crop has the complete approval of President Hoover, it was learned at the White House today.

Mr. Hoover feels, it was stated, that the farm board is the maker of its own policies, and that it has been clothed with enough authority by Congress to carry them out. He considers that the board has accomplished real benefits during the agricultural depression.

"The Nut Farm" Is Chosen For Senior A Play

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 30.—The members of the committee, with Paul MacMurdo as chairman and the coach, H. F. Wilson, finally cast their decision in favor of "The Nut Farm" as the senior play to be presented May 8th in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Hollywood forms the setting for this play. As to plot it concerns the Bartons—Mr. Willie and Helen—who have come with Helen's husband, Robert Bent, from Newark, N. J. to California. Robert has sold his business in the East for $30,000 and is expecting to buy a nut farm in California, settle down and find peace that Newark had never brought him. He reckons without Hollywood, however.

Willie has a yearning to be a director of film comedies, while Helen, the charming young wife of Robert, meets and falls victim to the flattery of a certain promoter, Hamilton T. Holland. Holland's graft is the flattery of silly young wives—in cases, of course, where the adoring husband has sufficient cash to make him worth fleeing. Helen finally persuades her Robert to postpone the buying of the nut farm and invest the money in a film starring her, certain, according to Mr. Holland that the money will be more than tripled. Willie knows that the money will be tripled, not tripled, and uses every effort to dissuade Robert from investing with the oily Holland. But the wife wins. Willie manages to get the directing assignment.

What happens to the money, the fearful headache that follows the showing of the film, the penitence of Helen and her mother, who had backed her aspirations, and the final and surprising climax upon the entire plot by the irrepressible Willie, give to the comedy a steady sweep of hilarity, interest and climax that have combined into making it one of the biggest hits of the current theater year.

The members of the cast are: Mrs. Barton, the mother—Dorothy Lundgren.

Willie Barton, the hero—Howard Menold.

Robert Bent, Helen's husband—Andrew Powell.

Ezra Sliscomb, retired Iowa farmer—Bruce Wright.

Helen Bent, the leading lady—Leona Davis.

Sekyra To Fight Stanton Tonight

Heavyweights To Meet In 10 Round Battle At Castle Bowl

EDDIE KAUFFMAN
TO BOX ARNOLD

"Who will win?" That's the question perturbing fandom as Gene Stanton and Joe Sekyra, heavyweights, await the gong that will send them together in a boxing bout scheduled for 10 rounds at Castle Bowl tonight.

"I expect Sekyra to defeat Stanton," said Charlie Cook, mentor for the lad who hails from Dayton.

"If I did not believe Stanton could beat Sekyra I would not have signed him against Joe," Danny Dunn, boss of Stanton.

The fans are evenly divided. Some believe that Stanton will win, while others like Sekyra's chances. Stanton will have a 20-pound weight advantage over Sekyra when the bell rings.

"What do you think of your chances?" Sekyra was asked. He was advised that Stanton weighs about 200 pounds.

"Weight doesn't mean a thing to me. Rocco had about 17 pounds and I had no trouble beating him. I'm better tonight than when I fought Rocco," he said.

"I intend to start whaling 'em over the second bell rings, and Sekyra isn't going to beat me if I can help it," remarked Stanton when questioned.

The heavyweights are "stopping" in different places and will rest until summoned to enter the ring.

HEAVYWEIGHTS ARE IN FINE CONDITION

Sekyra and Stanton arrived here yesterday.

Stanton was the first to arrive at Dime's gym. He started working at two o'clock. He hammered big and small bags, skipped rope and shadow boxed and scarcely breathed hard when he stopped training 30 minutes later.

Sekyra entered the gymnasium at three o'clock, shadow boxed and warmed up with the weights. Later he beat a tattoo on the small bag and then drilled rights and lefts against the big bag and was fresh as a daisy at the finish.

They repaired to different hotels to rest until they are summoned to the Castle Bowl tonight. They're scheduled to go 10 rounds. A knock-out is apt to end the battle at any second, as each can hit so effectively.

They have good records. Each has fought the best in their division. Sekyra is a Bohemian-American and Stanton is an Italian-American. Sekyra will weigh about 180 and Stanton about 200 pounds.

OTTO TO OPPOSE AKRON HEAVYWEIGHT

Fritz Otto worked out yesterday afternoon, as he will meet Pat Smith of Akron in a six-round bout. They are heavyweights. Otto did not show the punishing power in his punches that he displayed here a year ago.

Smith is not a terrific puncher, but what he lacks in power he makes up in consistency, and it would not be surprising were Otto and he to try and slug each other out in the first few rounds of the battle.

TOMMY ARNOLD TO BOX EDDIE KAUFFMAN

Tommy Arnold is either a much feared junior welterweight or the boys who romp in fisties don't need the money very bad, as Al Shiek has deserted the card and Eddie Kaufman, Cleveland, will meet Arnold tonight.

Everyone knows that orthodox boxers do not like to oppose southpaws, and this may have caused Al Shiek to dive from the card. Kaufman is good as Shiek and Arnold is in for a rough voyage tonight in the four rounds.

TWO OTHER FOUR-ROUND BOUTS ARE SCHEDULED

Jackie Ward, Cleveland blonde, and Al Gruver, Akron rubber worker, will clash at 124 in a four-round bout. Ward has fought here often and he is popular. Gruver has 106 amateur fights behind him.

Merle Gibson and Homer Gray, light-heavyweights, will open the fight program in a battle scheduled to go four rounds. They know little of the game, but will trot out a lot of swings and that means action.

BIG CROWD FROM NEW CASTLE ENVIRONS

According to reports there will be delegations of fans from Youngstown, Warren, Girard, Niles, Sharon, Farrell, Greenville, Franklin, Beaver Falls, Butler, Ambridge, New Brighton, Ellwood and other nearby towns.

Stanton and Sekyra are the best heavyweights who have appeared here, and according to form they ought to put up a great battle in the wind-up. The first bout will start at 8:15 p. m.

BOWLING COLUMN

NEW CASTLE WORKS WINS

The New Castle Works bowlers journeyed to Pittsburgh on Saturday for a return match with the General Office team of Pittsburgh and carried off the honors by a 175-pin margin. The New Castle men also won the match rolled here earlier last week.

The trip to Pittsburgh was made in a special coach, at the expense of the A. S. & T. P. company. The men arrived in Pittsburgh at noon and were taken to the Henry hotel for a delicious chicken dinner. Following the dinner the principal speech was made by R. J. Hadley, chief auditor of the Sheet & Tin Plate company, who spoke on "Good Fellowship Derived From These Gatherings."

After dinner the men were taken to the bowling alleys where a very interesting match was rolled. Pro-phet of the Pittsburgh team had the fourth match that New Castle bowlers have rolled with the Pittsburgh men and all of them have been won by the local duxpin artists. Which of the two Tin Mill bowling teams are the best? This question is left unanswered.

By defeating the Safety Five floor team by a 21-20 score in a game played on the Carnegie floor on Friday night the Neshannock Rangers today lay claim to the Junior championship of the city. To date the Rangers have annexed a total of 16 victories and have yet to taste the pill of defeat.

Church Teams Play Tonight

Championships At Stake
Tonight As Church Floor
Teams Battle

FIRST GAME AT EIGHT O'CLOCK

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Finnish Lutherans and First Baptists of the "B" league will take the floor to resume their series for the second-half championship in the Church League. A victory for the Finnish boys will give them the second-half title, while a victory for the Baptists will give them the league championship. The teams are now tied at one all in the series to date.

The second game will find the Temple Israel already one-up on the Central Christians in their battle for the "A" league championship. The Temples won the first game of the series by a one-point margin, and the Central Christians are out to even up the series this evening. A hot game is looked for. Coach Nolte has the Temples or Gersons going like a house-on-fire, while the Christians under the care of Bert Evans will be fighting with their backs to the wall for that elusive victory.

In the game between the Finnish Lutherans and First Baptists last Thursday the issue was decided by a one-point margin. The Finnish boys were handicapped by the absence of their star center Francis Wainio. It is expected that the clever Wainio will be in shape for the battle tonight, thus insuring the fans of a real floor engagement.

A capacity crowd is looked for tonight by Henry MacNichols. The church league has been very well supported this year.

Schussheim Wins Ping Pong Title

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—Marcus Schussheim, of New York, today held the national singles ping-pong championship by his defeat of Edward Szgall, of New Rochelle, N. Y., in the finals of the American Ping-Pong Association's first annual tournament.

Schussheim made a clean sweep of the match, winning all three games by the scores of 21-14, 21-15 and 21-8.

Coleman Clark, of Chicago, the western singles champion, was eliminated from the tournament in the quarter finals by W. Chester Wells, Jr., of Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Wells took two games of the match by the scores of 21-19 and 21-14. Clark won one game 16-21.

The most significant indication of waning French tennis strength was the showing made by visiting Latins in recent indoor games in New York. Jean Borotra, of course, won the indoor title tournament, but he lost to Frank Shields, up and coming 20-year-old Yank, in straight sets in a later match. Christian Bousset and Pierre Landry were humbled by Americans before the semi-final round of the indoor meet was reached. M. Bousset and M. Landry are part of the timber from which France hopes to construct her 1931 cup defense team.

Add to this gloomy French tennis picture the announcement of Rene Lacoste that he is out of cup play this year, due to an appendicitis operation. Jacques Brugnon, another French star, was also recently operated on for appendicitis.

As a contrast, Frank Shields, Berkeley Bell and several other American boys conducted their own selves on the indoor courts in a highly reassuring manner.

Maybe we can win that cup back without Tilden, after all!

HAPPENINGS IN WORLD OF SPORT

Mention Several As Possible Successors To Late E. S. Barnard

Ed Barrow, Secretary Of Yankees Is Mentioned Most Strongly

Mayor Walker Also In Spotlight, Billy Evans Is Valuable Man

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Writer.
(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—Prominent baseball men throughout the nation, stunned by the deaths within 24 hours of Ernest S. Barnard and the picturesque Ban Johnson, president and past presidents of the American league, speculated Saturday on the question:

"Who will be the new president?" At least half a dozen possibilities were suggested in well-informed baseball circles today, the names of the following having come up for discussion in this connection:

Many Are Mentioned.
Edward Barrow, secretary and business manager of the New York Yankees and former manager of the Boston Red Sox.

"Billy" Evans, business manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Mayor "Jimmy" Walker of New York City.

William Harridge, secretary of the American League.

Frank Navin, president of the Detroit Tigers and vice president of the American league.

Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators.

Connie Mack, manager of the world champion Athletics.

American league circles were shocked by the deaths, coming so close together, of Barnard and Johnson. Barnard died late Friday at the Mayo brothers' clinic at Rochester, Minn., the victim of a heart attack. Johnson, a mighty figure in baseball for years, died in St. Louis Saturday morning after a lingering illness.

Navin Takes Charge.
No immediate action toward the election of a new president to succeed Barnard is likely to be taken, Frank Navin, vice president of the league, and William Harridge, the secretary, are expected to take over the reins dropped by Barnard, with Navin acting as the nominal head of the league. Most likely no successor to Barnard will be named until the annual American league baseball meeting next winter.

Ed Barrow, the New York Yankees' business manager, is regarded as a strong possibility for the position. He has spent a lifetime in baseball and knows every angle of the game. He managed the Red Sox for three years prior to his coming to New York in the fall of 1920. Prior to that he was president of the International league for seven years.

"Billy" Evans, business manager of the Cleveland Americans, is also prominently mentioned. He is almost ideally equipped for the task. He is comparatively young, yet he has been in baseball for years. Like Barrow and Johnson, he too was formerly a sports editor. Later Evans became one of the best umpires in the game. His keen executive ability won him his present important position with the Indians.

Mayor Walker's name cropped up in the discussion today when it was recalled that about seven years ago—before he was elected mayor of New York City—his name was suggested for the presidency of the American league. "Jimmy" used to be a fair ball player himself in his younger days and he always has taken an interest in sports. He is the father of the Walker boxing law.

The consensus seemed to be today that Barnard's successor would be either Ed Barrow, "Billy" Evans or William Harridge.

Mack Not Possibility.
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 30.—Thomas S. Shibe, president of the Philadelphia club of the American league, expressed serious doubts that Connie Mack, the veteran leader of the Athletics, would entertain any thoughts of becoming president of the American league.

"For Mr. Mack to become head of the league," Shibe pointed out, "he would first have to dispose of all his holdings in the world champions."

"I doubt very much that the president's annual salary of $40,000 would compensate Mr. Mack for selling his interests in a world championship club," said Shibe.

Shibe also expressed deep sorrow over the deaths of Ban Johnson, retired president of the league, and of E. S. Barnard, the late president.

Wampum Merchants Win Over Ex-Highs

Merchants Conclude Floor Season By Handing Wampum Ex-High Team 32-26 Defeat

Another fast game was played on the Wampum floor when the Wampum Merchants closed the 1930-31 basketball season by winning over the Wampum Ex-High team by a 32-26 score. A fast crowd witnessed the exciting fracas.

After making a bad start in the initial quarter the Ex-High passers came back strong in the second period to deadlock the matters at 17 apiece as the two teams left the floor for the first half. In the third period the old Wampum stars made an impressive appearance as they grabbed a 22-20 lead. It was in the last period that the Ex-High Stars fell by the wayside.

Fonse Demark was the high scorer for the Merchants, ringing the bell through the nets 5 times. Ferrucci also played well. Patterson and Gilt Boone divided honors for the losers.

In the preliminary game of the evening the Wampum Boy Scouts handed the Wampum High quintet a 28-25 defeat in a fast tilt. During the first half the high school boys took a 16-9 lead but during the second half they could not continue the pace which they set the first half. R. Ferrucci and Eversole played well for the Scouts with Demark and L. Ferrucci the best for the losers.

World's Deepest Oil Well In California

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Mar. 30.—What is declared by Shell company officials to be the deepest oil well in the world is under construction at Semi-Tropic, 50 miles northwest of here.

The hole has reached a depth of 9,700 feet and will be continued to 10,000 feet, company officials said. The temperature at the bottom of the well is said to be 210 degrees Fahrenheit. The weight of the pipe supported by the derrick is 210,000 pounds.

"And why not?" he asked. "My horse knows that the red traffic light means stop and that the green one means go ahead. He's absolutely safe—a bomb would hardly disturb his equanimity."

Indian Graves Are Opened In Texas

Twenty-Five Human Skeletons Dug Up And Given To Museums

WACO, Tex., Mar. 30.—Twenty-five complete human frames, those of Indian Braves, squaws and their papooses with such of their possessions as have survived a century's burial have been unearthed near here and today are in the museums of three Texas schools. The 25 bodies were placed in the burial mound, each facing the east, more than 100 years ago.

They were discovered by Dr. K. H. Ayresworth, 30 miles west of here in Coryell county. The mound was explored by the Department of Anthropology and Archaeology of the University of Texas.

The first of the three layers of bodies was only 21 inches below the surface and the second layer was just below the first. The third tier was 36 inches deep.

Beside the bodies of the women were the large rock bowls and the round headed clubs they used to grind corn. Arrows and spearheads

Holder of twelve world's swimming marks at the age of seventeen is the enviable record of Helen Madison, Seattle's great mermaid. The aquatic star's marks range from 60.8 seconds for the 100-yard sprint to 24:34.6 minutes for the mile. Helen's feats have startled the swimming world, she having garnered no fewer than twenty-eight American records in her two years of competition. She is expected to bag another record or two at the national indoor championships to be held in New York April 16 to 19, when she will try for her first backstroke marks.

Eastern Racing Season Starts

Track At Bowie Today Scene Of First Race Of Season

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 30.—The horse man's best friend (when he wins) takes the center of the sports stage today with the opening of the eastern racing season at Bowie.

The unusual interest evinced in the sport of kings in Florida, New Orleans, Mexico and Cuba during the past winter presages a banner turf season in 1931. Approximately two thousand thoroughbreds will race at the Maryland meetings, and other horses are being trained at the New York tracks.

Interest in the equines that will answer the bugle at the Maryland meetings centers in the three-year-old stars eligible for the preakness, the Kentucky derby and other classics to be held later in the year.

Outstanding among these public favorites is Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's equisette, leading two-year old money winner last season.

Unless all portents fail, Equipoise is destined to assume the role played by Gallant Fox last year. The gallant son of Pennant and Swinging, the winter-book favorite to win the derby at Churchill Downs on May 16, is now being groomed for the $50,000 preakness, scheduled for Pimlico on Saturday, May 9.

I am glad also to announce we had our annual Pennsylvania State Winter picnic. It was the largest we have had for years. The day was ideal for such an occasion, every one seemed to have enjoyed themselves.

There was a large attendance from Lawrence and Mercer counties and New Castle was there with a 100 percent strong. I should judge there was from 8,000 to 10,000 people there. I wished I could have seen more of Lawrence county there. Come out to our Mid-summer picnic in Long Beach.

A country can endure half slave and half free, however, if you mean slavery to an amendment.

Many Dilapidated Autos On Highways

President Of State Motor Federation Declares They Are Road Menace

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 30.—There are more dilapidated vehicles on the highways today than ever before, according to S. Edward Gable, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, state unit of the American Automobile Association.

"Although manufacturers have made the modern automobile a far safer machine in all respects, the bad mechanical condition of old cars is without precedent," Mr. Gable said today. "Many are being operated with faulty brakes or virtually no brakes, with worn-out and dangerous steering gears and other vital mechanism in bad condition. These rattle-traps jeopardize the lives and property of everyone on the streets and highways."

"Pennsylvania has a law that requires brakes to be up to a certain standard and has several thousand official brake testing stations, yet a recent survey of these stations shows a loss of business in this line to an
